BIOGRAPHY

Beginning her literary career in 2002, Kendra is an award-winning, national bestselling author and the founder, editor-in-chief, and creative director of Royalty Publications LLC, an independent publishing house that produces the works of Christian writers. Along with being a consecrated minister in the Lord's church, she is the author of twenty-two fiction and nonfiction books. Additionally, Kendra is the founder and publisher of The Royal Trumpet, a national faith-based digital newspaper and the creator of S.H.A.K.E.R.S., an online Facebook forum for kingdom-minded women.

In 2015, Kendra added "radio host" to her list of accomplishments when she created and became the voice behind the mic of Royal Pen Network, an internet radio talk show that celebrates Christian writers and performers. In 2019, Kendra received her Doctor of Divinity degree in Religious Studies from St. Thomas Christian University.

In the life of her career, Kendra has had the honor of working closely with such nationally recognized names as television personalities, David & Tamela Mann, Bern Nadette Stanis, Malik Yoba, Victoria Rowell, Ruby Getting, Chef G. Garvin, Judge Glenda Hatchett, Judge Penny Brown Reynolds, and Shavar Ross, as well as music industry favorites like Fantasia, Deitrick Haddon, The Williams Brothers, Vanessa Bell Armstrong, Jonathan Nelson, Jason Nelson, Stacy Lattisaw-Jackson, Erica & Tina Campbell (Mary Mary), Byron Cage, J. Moss, Darlene McCoy, Myron Butler, Vicki Yohe, Marcus Cole, Lowell Pye, the late Keith "Wonderboy" Johnson, and the late Bishop Rance Allen.

Kendra has been the keynote speaker on the stage of many churches and organizations both nationally and internationally and views all she does as ministry.

Currently, Kendra resides with her husband, Dr. Michael Holmes, in central Georgia where, together, they serve as pastors of Deliverance Revival Church in Macon. They share three adult children and eight grandchildren.
